

Listen to this article

click on/off

Read time 9min

Attacq leverages data for sustainable, environmental success

Interviewed by Tony Korsten
Written by Ana Lorton

If you didn't know that Attacq has its own world-class 'weather station' at Waterfall City, neither did we. When Asset met with Giles Pendleton, chief development officer (CDO) at Attacq Group, and Kyra Rautenbach, Attacq's sustainability manager, we were astonished to learn that Waterfall City's climate differs from that of Johannesburg. In fact it differs enough to make a "material difference" as Giles explains.